

2017 NOFSW Conference Program Agenda

Wednesday, July 26, 2017

7:30am-4:30pm	Registration
7:30am-8:30am	Continental Breakfast
8:30am-4:30pm (networking lunch will be provided to Certificate participants)	Forensic Social Work Certificate Program (not included with conference registration) The Forensic Social Work Certificate is a program sanctioned by the National Organization of Forensic Social Work. Graduates who have successfully met program expectations are identified as having received training (6.5 CEUs) in topics deemed foundational to sound forensic social work knowledge. It would be appropriate to list or note this certificate among a professional's specialized areas of training. It would not be appropriate to list as a credential after one's name (e.g. Sallie Sue, FSWC). If you have questions about the proper use of the FSW Certificate please contact the NOFSW Executive Director.
	Orientation to the FSW Certificate Covers attendance and participation expectations for certificate institute attendees; outlines the professional benefits and limitations of the certificate.
	History and Foundations of Forensic Social work: A Cultural Journey A brief look back at the history of the field with specific attention to the cross-cultural nature of social work and the law; identifies emerging topics shaping the future of the field. Stacey Hardy Chandler, PhD
	Court Systems and Expert Testimony Examines the court context of forensic social work practice focusing on criminal, consultant and child welfare examples. Steven Hartsock, PhD; Viola Vaughan-Eden, PhD
	Keys to Successful Offender Reentry Explores mental health and addiction intervention factors and their impact on the transitioning back to the community; challenges and opportunities for forensic social work John Cocco, PhD
	Juvenile (In)justice Considers the socio-political factors directing children to the JJ system including a critical examination of racial disparities and how these play out at crucial decision points for our youth. Susan McCarter, PhD
	Public Defense Mitigation: Telling the Story Provides a step-by-step approach to the forensic social worker's role in sentencing advocacy; core social work skills are translated into the special needs for working effectively with a defense team. Valarie Mitchell, MSW
	Law Enforcement: Partnerships with Purpose Understanding law enforcement can be of significant benefit to variety of FSW functions including work in domestic violence, child protection and dependent and older adult protection. David McLeod, PhD
